Admission requirements for Language Centre courses

➢ Requirements for semester-long French, English, German and Italian courses [included in specific course programmes and reserved for students in these programmes (“public spécifique”)]

1. You have to be enrolled in one of the course programmes (the language course is an integral part of your course programme).

2. To do a course, you have to enroll (enroll at my.unifr.ch).

3. If there is a waiting list for the course, places are offered as they become available during the first three weeks of semester only.

4. You are automatically enrolled for the final exam and/or evaluation.

5. Failure to attend regularly (missing more than three weeks can result in a ‘fail’) or to do the final exam/evaluation mean that you will not receive a course certificate or ECTS credits. Moreover, you will receive a ‘fail’ for the course.

6. If you fail the final exam/evaluation, you are allowed to repeat it (please contact the lecturer of the course for details). Altogether you may do the final exam/evaluation twice.

7. Apart from exceptional circumstances, missing the final exam/evaluation results in a ‘fail’. A medical certificate is necessary if illness is the reason for missing the final exam/evaluation.

8. You must successfully complete all exam/evaluation requirements within four exam sessions following course registration. Otherwise, you will receive a definitive ‘fail’.

9. If you decide not to do a language course after enrolling, please unenroll promptly so that your place becomes available for someone else. If you do not unenroll, you will receive a ‘fail’ for the course. When unenrolling from a course, the exam registration will be automatically cancelled. It is not possible to only unenroll from the exam.

10. Language courses also involve out-of-class work, assigned by the lecturer, or self-study. The number of hours correlates to the type of work required to qualify for ECTS credits or to achieve a target outcome.
